Welcome

IMAGINE 20 YEARS FROM NOW.
Where will you be? Where will your children be? What will they be doing? Will they be walking faithfully with the Lord?

We faced those same questions—20 years ago—and it changed our lives. Veritas Press was started for our children and for yours. Nothing seemed more important to us than making sure they were prepared for life.

When you’re in the midst of it, you might wonder if you’re getting the job done. We did. Today we look back and what seemed like a never-ending chore ended before we realized it. The sober truth is you have 18 formative years with your children. Use them wisely.

We’ve made some exciting changes starting this year.

FREE SHIPPING might be one that interests you! Now you’ll pay no shipping on orders of $50 or more going to a US address.

This year we’re also introducing something we call Veritas Complete. These are customizable, all-subject packages for an entire grade. If you look closely at them, you’ll find they give you three options: Good, Better, Best. Many will find great peace of mind by using them to know they’re doing enough. Read about them at the beginning of each grade in this catalog.

Our lesson plans for grammar school have been added to the You Teach selections. You can still get them for a whole grade, but we thought you’d find this option helpful, too.

Students who are getting a diploma or are part of the grammar school yearly certification at Veritas Scholars Academy will find us moving toward calling them “full-time,” with others who take classes being “part-time.” We hope this will be easier to understand than being part of “the diploma program.”

We’ve made some effort to trim the catalog to help you focus on the most important selections. Many of the items we’ve removed remain available online. A new web site and much-improved search capabilities will help your online experience.

The web site and this catalog now have sections dedicated to explaining why for many of the disciplines. Knowing why we teach history or Bible a certain way and knowing what our approaches are to Latin, logic, and rhetoric will give you and your students great confidence in knowing what you will accomplish. Go to pages 9–11 to see examples.

The way we see it, you’re family. We’re in this together. We’ll help any way we can. Just don’t all come over for Thanksgiving Dinner the same year.

What Educational Approach is Best for Your Children?

YOUR APPROACH
What approach are you using with your children? Is it working? Does it work equally well with each of them? Twenty-five years ago, we didn’t even know to ask these questions, so don’t feel bad if you haven’t given them serious thought, either. But by the grace of God, something happened that caused us to ask questions about the education of our children. Maybe your reading this is an act of Providence in your life.

THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME
Doesn’t it seem there ought to be an ideal way for children to learn? This was a nagging thought for us, but we had no answers. That is, until we learned of classical education from a Christian worldview. The idea of an education that taught children in a way that was in line with how God made children (and all of us, for that matter) to learn was very attractive. What’s more, this method is rigorous and has a long history of proven results.

Classical education takes a three-fold approach. This trivium, which it is frequently called, is Latin for “where three roads meet” and lays out three stages of learning: grammar, dialectic (or logic), and rhetoric. The genius of classical education—why it works so well—is because it teaches “with the grain” of how children develop. When they’re young, they enjoy memorizing and learning lots of things. The junior high years find them interested in challenging, arguing, and wanting to understand how things might relate to each other. During the senior high years, they become more concerned with how they are perceived, wanting to be articulate and persuasive in winsome ways. Teaching according to their God-given tendencies proves to be remarkably effective, not to mention that it trains children to learn for themselves—as life-long learners.

Classical education from Veritas intends to be academically rigorous, distinctively Christian, and methodologically aligned with how God made us to learn. Students of our Classical Christian Education curriculum assimilate:

- GODLY PRINCIPLES
- CRITICAL THINKING SKILLS
- CHRIST-CENTERED VALUES
- INTEGRATED KNOWLEDGE
- GOD-GIVEN POTENTIAL

…and much more than today’s modern education.

CLASSICAL EDUCATION IS THE BEST WAY TO TEACH:

HOW TO LEARN
In the Grammar Stage (K–6):
- Memorization
- Mimicking Language
- Mastering facts

HOW TO THINK
In the Dialectic Stage (7–9):
- Argumentation
- Logic
- Reasoning
- How/Why

HOW TO COMMUNICATE
In the Rhetoric Stage (10–12):
- Communicative
- Poetic
- Articulate
- Self-aware
3 Ways to Learn with Veritas Press

WITH THE GRAIN
Each child has a unique learning style. At Veritas, not only do we use the time-tested methods of classical education, but we recognize the uniqueness of each child and each family. So, whether a child is a visual learner, auditory learner, read/write learner, or kinesthetic learner (think vark), we want to teach them “with the grain.” They’ll love it and succeed with our three ways to learn.

You Teach
Parent-taught curriculum with scripted lesson plans and the award winning and proven Veritas Curriculum. The scripted lesson plans are designed to help parents plan, teach, and organize schooling for any subject.

Self-Paced
Online History, Bible, and Omnibus courses, combining engaging videos, interactive exercises, fun games, and built-in quizzes and exams that create a stress-free option for parents needing to take some of the load off of teaching yet keep children excited and eager to learn. Self-Paced courses can be done anytime and anywhere you have an internet connection.

Live Online
Classes taught by expert teachers in the Veritas Virtual Classroom. Classes are available for every subject. Live Online classes help parents who are seeking help teaching. You may want to reduce your load or benefit from expert teachers to help you. For either reason, you will enjoy the peace of mind that your children will reach their ultimate potential.
Veritas Complete

Too many parents wonder if they're doing “enough.” We know, because we used to be the ones worrying. You shouldn't have to lose sleep, or wonder, or worry. That's why we've introduced Complete Subject Packages. They include all the materials we've learned you'll need to teach an entire year to rest in the fact that they'll be prepared. In fact, we provide three packages at each grade level. We call them Good, Better, and Best. And for ultimate flexibility, they can be customized to your family's circumstances.

ELECTIVES

Naturally, your children's interests and abilities are coming to light during these grades. Electives that give them specialized opportunities beyond the core courses are of increasing importance. Below is a list of this year's electives offered Live Online:

- ENGLISH: Grammar and Writing Transition, Composition Transition, Fiction Writing Workshop, Creative Writing, Journalism, Poetry, Science Fiction: A Christian Perspective
- HISTORY: US History, Western Civilization
- LANGUAGES: French I, II, III; German I, II, III; Latin Transition I, II; Latin Readings: Christian Authors; Latin Readings: Virgil; Mandarin Chinese I, II; Spanish I, II, III
- MATH: Algebra Refresher, Business Math, Calculus II, Statistics
- SCIENCE: Advanced Chemistry: Organic Chemistry, Anatomy and Physiology, Marine Biology, Physics II
- ELECTIVES: Art Studio I, II; College Test Prep, Economics, Film and Worldview, Philosophy, Psychology, US Government
Many of you ask us specifically about our products. On this and the next two pages we are featuring curricula that we created here at Veritas. Each of these blocks is to help you understand how each of them work and, maybe more so, why they were created in a certain way. You’ll see better how curriculum builds on prior learning, how it integrates several disciplines for efficiency and effectiveness, and why many of you have voted it the most award-winning classical education program.

OMNIBUS

How will you teach your students to think biblically about everything, preparing them for life? You shouldn’t have to worry about your children not having the tools they need to succeed. Education isn’t just knowing. Thinking and communicating clearly are what set the best students apart. The Omnibus is a humanities curriculum that integrates history, theology and literature by studying the Great Books from a distinctly Christian worldview. This historic approach helps avoid the compartmentalization common to modern education.

The Omnibus program includes six years with two courses per year. The Primary books course focuses closely on primary-source historical works and events from the time period covered. The Secondary course offers a lighter workload for the student and balances out the course with greater focus on literature and theology. Taken together, students will earn three credits: one each in history, theology and literature. They will also run through a 3-year cycle of history—ancient, medieval, modern—twice, once with the first three years and again with the second three. Learn more on page 77. GRADES: 7–12

COMPOSITION

Having a substantial grasp of English grammar and sentence structure, your students are ready to learn to compose in various writing formats. It’s the time to take off the writing “training wheels.” Creating short stories, essay writing, etc. will help them develop their skills. Composition teaches them to turn phrases and lead the reader through a cleverly composed piece.

Veritas Press and the publishers of WORLD Magazine have partnered to create a text that challenges students to engage in purposeful writing. Rather than rely on the “canned assignments” common in other curriculum, the text tackles the fundamentals of essay writing and persuasion as well as introduces students to the power of storytelling. Students will learn, not only how to argue for their beliefs, but how to express themselves in their own, unique voice. Learn more on page 66. GRADES: 7–9

RHETORIC

If you know classical education, you know the importance of teaching rhetoric. And you know that, as Christians, we are called to love our neighbor. In the 25+ years we’ve been involved in classical education, we’ve been concerned that rhetoric curricula have simply been updated versions of Aristotle’s Rhetoric—until now.

At Veritas, we’re always seeking ways to create programs that look at what’s out there and create a “better mouse trap.” We are convinced this is it. Much of the classical tradition intended to speak and write what is true, good, and beautiful. A Rhetoric of Love sees much helpful in the ideas of these ancient teachers. Greeks and Romans taught much about sound reasoning, orderly thinking, and clear communication. They didn’t teach us much about how to love one’s opponent. Jesus called us to love our neighbor as ourself. A Rhetoric of Love asks how we can do that in our speaking and writing and living. How ought Christ’s followers to try to persuade others? How should their rhetorical efforts look different from those of the world around? How can they seek to persuade with empathy, understanding, compassion? How can they listen to others—really listen—and then speak truth in love? Learn more on page 71. GRADES: 10–12
PHONICS

We don’t have to tell you the importance of giving our children sound reading skills to aid their entire education. Yet the tools we use can make all the difference in the world as to how successful they are.

The Veritas Press Phonics Museum has been around since 2000 and has laid the kind of foundation needed for thousands of children. The printed version remains one of our most popular items. In 2017 we introduced the program in an app.

Available in the App Store, this app has become even more popular than the print version. The museum guide, Miss Biddle, and Percival, the boy knight who comes to life, take children through an adventure that starts them from no sound or letter recognition skills to being young readers. Writing is included, and because of touch screen technology, children as young as three or four are able to use their fingertips to write letters a full year before they have the dexterity to hold a pencil.

Now you have a choice—the physical version or the app. For our money, it would be the app, but we’d include some of the print items. We’d get the primers and the workbook to go with it. Learn more on pages 14 and 18. GRADES: K–1

PREHISTORY WITH BEDE

Have you ever thought about how to best prepare young ones to learn history? We’re convinced that children are ready to understand history when they’re around seven and in second grade. Before that, it’s typically too early for them to understand a lot of historical sequences or have a meaningful sense of extended time periods. But in Kindergarten and first grade we can prepare them in some very effective ways.

We’d like to introduce you to Bede. Bede is a timeline… who strongly resembles a ball of yarn. From him Kindergarteners learn the basics of history in a fun way. Topics include: how a timeline works, family history, the history of holidays (Thanksgiving, Christmas, Easter, etc.), the history of toys, and much more.

First graders are introduced to American history. Topics include: Columbus Day, the Great Awakening, George Washington, Ben Franklin, Lewis and Clark, Abraham Lincoln, the Wild West, the history of flight, the history of inventions, famous American artists, and more. Learn more on pages 13 and 17. GRADES: K–1

HISTORY AND BIBLE

What if you could have history and Bible curricula that your children are guaranteed to love and are memorable and easy to teach? “We absolutely love the self-paced History and Bible. My son looks forward to learning his favorite subjects. He enjoys the games and the memory songs. They keep him engaged and he retains the information he learns. We will continue to use it and share VP with friends and other homeschool families.”—Lisa W.

There are five Self-Paced Courses in history: Old Testament and Ancient Egypt; New Testament, Greece and Rome; Middle Ages, Renaissance and Reformation; Explorers to 1815; and 1815 to the Present. There are also five courses in Bible (only three are currently available in Self-Paced): Genesis through Joshua; Judges through Kings; Chronicles through Malachi; The Gospels; and Acts through Revelation. Integrating the two each year provides the additional benefit of understanding more how God has been at work through all history. If you’re looking for history and Bible curricula that have kids begging to learn, you’re at the right place. See the History and Bible sections in 2nd–6th grades. GRADES: 2–6

GEOGRAPHY

Do you love being around people who have a breadth of knowledge of geography? Maybe they’ve travelled the world, or maybe they just mastered much of its geography through study. Studying geography is not only helpful and useful, but it makes us much more interesting to be around.

Young ones love and are ready. We’ve made it even more enjoyable with Mr. Latitude and Mr. Longitude. Learn as they help the disoriented Elmo Tardy discover geography! The first year covers basic concepts about maps, points on the compass, and much more. The next four years cover South, East, North and West. (We’re not mixed up. It makes the most sense with other areas of study.) It’s not a problem to study them in any order you prefer.

Once again, one of our imaginative writers has woven a storyline into the material. Students and teachers alike will master world geography in the most fun and creative way. See the Geography sections in 2nd–6th grades. GRADES: 1–5
PAGES OF HISTORY

Most history curriculum study takes segments of history each year and focuses on a certain number of events from that time. If you use our history program, that’s exactly what you do.

Over the years we have also recommended a couple different “summaries” of history. They have been narratives that worked their way from the beginning to the present and were great read-alouds for the whole family. Or they could be given to a grammar school history student to read so they could contextualize better what they were studying. The problem with every one of these narratives is that they all left out the most important aspect—that God created providentially superintends all that happens.

That’s why Pages of History was written. This two-volume series covers all 160 events in our five-year grammar school history program. But it does more. The authors have very cleverly run a storyline—a narrative—that makes the history come to life, with two time-travelling boys with whom you will get to experience all of this firsthand. And, of course, your children will be learning that God is in charge every step of the way. Learn more on page 25. GRADES: 2–6

COMPREHENSION GUIDES

Have you given great thought to teaching children to read but overlooked teaching them to comprehend what they read? It’s easy to do—it’s not as observable. Veritas has created dozens of literature comprehension guides for many reading classics throughout Kindergarten–6th grade.

Building comprehension skills develops the students’ abilities to make predictions, improve their understanding of content, sequence or character, and connect whatever they are reading with their own experience and knowledge. Mastering reading comprehension for any student is foundational to all future academic success and is one of the most valuable and lasting skills a student will develop. These guides are filled with reproducible activities, exercises, projects, and comprehension questions. See the Literature sections in 2nd–6th grades. GRADES: K–6

HISTORY OF ART

Have you thought about why we should study art? By studying the art of past cultures, we can learn something about ourselves in the present. Giving grammar school students this baseline knowledge that ties art to time periods and what they learn in history pays great dividends—not only in their learning but throughout life.

But first, the basics. A simple timeline knowledge of art will be enjoyable in itself. It will then, as they progress, help them understand relationships between historical events and art—even artistic styles. Why did realism give way to impressionism? What has been behind modern art? Knowing the history of art is not one fad giving way to another. Students of the curriculum will begin to grasp these important changes.

At the pages referenced below you’ll learn four different ways to consider covering this material. See page 55. GRADES: 2–6

TRANSITION GUIDES

Maybe you’re new to Veritas, or your circumstances are such that your child was not able to study history long enough to commit a history timeline to memory. The transition guides were written just for you. They were also written for students who may not be quite ready for the rigors of our Omnibus curriculum and would benefit from a transition year.

We believe having a timeline knowledge is so important that we’ve created these guides to build an abbreviated timeline knowledge of history in one year.

The transition books include reading assignments, comprehension and worldview questions, essay prompts, activities, and sections devoted to the Pages of History books. Guide I focuses on Creation through the Reformation. Guide II focuses on explorers to the present day. See page 62. GRADES: 6–7TH
Mona Brookes was hired by Gertrude Dietz, the director of a preschool, to teach realistic drawing to 100 four- and five-year-olds. When she sought curricula, she found none. About her experience she said, “Thank goodness Gertrude and I were ignorant of the prevailing philosophy that said you shouldn’t give young children any guided instruction in the field of drawing. We assumed it was acceptable to give basic instruction in drawing, since this was true for music, dance, and all the other artistic subjects.” With her neighbor, Elliot Day, a composer, she broke down the basic components of vision as one would break down a musical composition. This led to devising an “alphabet of shape” that consisted of five basic elements. Any object that a student wants to draw can be simply analyzed in terms of how these five elements of shape are combined. The result is every child can achieve realistic representation of subjects to be drawn.

There is no better way to teach your child to reproduce with his own hand the beauty of God’s creation. This book teaches the grammar of art and is useful for any age level, but particularly K–6th grade. Soft 272p #435330 $14.95

Fine Art Primmers
This hand-picked collection of books is a great way to introduce young students to fine art. Although not reading primers, each title was selected to complement the Phonics Museum, which makes use of fine art produced by these masters. A wonderful way to integrate art into your curriculum.

Drawing with Children (25% off retail) #003920 $14.95

Drawing With Children
Mona Brookes
Mona Brookes was hired by Gertrude Dietz, the director of a preschool, to teach realistic drawing to 100 four- and five-year-olds. When she sought curricula, she found none. About her experience she said, “Thank goodness Gertrude and I were ignorant of the prevailing philosophy that said you shouldn’t give young children any guided instruction in the field of drawing. We assumed it was acceptable to give basic instruction in drawing, since this was true for music, dance, and all the other artistic subjects.” With her neighbor, Elliot Day, a composer, she broke down the basic components of vision as one would break down a musical composition. This led to devising an “alphabet of shape” that consisted of five basic elements. Any object that a student wants to draw can be simply analyzed in terms of how these five elements of shape are combined. The result is every child can achieve realistic representation of subjects to be drawn.

There is no better way to teach your child to reproduce with his own hand the beauty of God’s creation. This book teaches the grammar of art and is useful for any age level, but particularly K–6th grade. Soft 272p #435330 $14.95

Fine Art Primmers
This hand-picked collection of books is a great way to introduce young students to fine art. Although not reading primers, each title was selected to complement the Phonics Museum, which makes use of fine art produced by these masters. A wonderful way to integrate art into your curriculum.

Bede’s History of ME

Ned Bustard and Amy Clark

We’d like to introduce you to Bede…a timeline who strongly resembles a ball of yarn. This loveable character introduces young children to the basics of history in a fun way—once a week, all year long. Topics include how a timeline works, family history, the history of holidays (Thanksgiving, Christmas, Easter, etc.), the history of toys, maritime history, the history of sports, music history, the history of dresses, and more. Even a little Church history is included! Imagine how fun it is to learn about timelines using the fairy tale Goldilocks and the Three Bears? A clear way to teach the importance of timelines and how God works in time. A second volume is available, too. (see page 17). This is a home run. ★★★★★ Soft 69p:

Saxon I

Nancy Larson

This is the friendliest and most thorough math program available. Any student can master the grammar of math easily with Saxon’s “incremental approach.” We do find it necessary and advisable to use the program ahead of a stated grade level—something John Saxon himself told us he supported—because children can handle it easily.

In using this program at this age you should realize that the text assumes students will read the problems. You may need to read problems to the students. This problem occurs with first graders, too, so there is no need for alarm. We plan to do that with our grandchildren.

Veritas Press Phonics Museum
Marlin & Laurie Detweiler, Ned Bustard, and Diane Coleman

The Phonics Museum is an award-winning program that will have your child read a simple book in a few short weeks, building their interest and confidence. It will then take them on a journey through learning to read that will open doors for the rest of their lives. Join Percival, a boy knight, as he takes children through an art museum, learning letters and sounds along the way. Your child will want to keep learning as they set out on this adventure. Using classical, time-proven methods, your child will learn to love reading.

Easy-to-follow scripted teacher's manuals give you everything you need to teach with confidence. Also included are alphabet flashcards using fine art, games, music, worksheets, great stories, art projects, and much more—all to teach using a comprehensive multi-sensory approach. Phonics Museum goes beyond simply teaching letter sounds and reading skills. This powerful program will inspire your child with a life-long love for learning! Call or visit VeritasPress.com for special pricing on classroom kits for schools. Our phonics is now available in an app. Download free and get a free trial from the App Store or learn more at PhonicsMuseum.com.

So which do you do? We strongly recommend the app, if your circumstances permit. It will also work to do both and that will clearly be best. If that’s not practical, consider the app with a Student Kit (with or without the Primers). But, by all means don’t miss this remarkable time in the life of your child.

Legends & Leagues: Or Mr. Tardy Goes from Here to There

Ned Bustard
Poor Elmo Tardy is always getting lost. But one day Tardy stumbles into the over-stuffed office of Legends & Leagues, Ltd. There he meets the lanky Mr. Meridian Longitude and the stout Mr. Azimuth Latitude—two cheery fellows who teach Mr. Tardy about the concepts of maps, points of the compass, geographic formations and more. Students will laugh and learn as Tardy is taught all he needs to know to get from Here to There. Using the workbook, students can apply what Mr. Tardy learned. Includes cut and paste state maps, world maps, coloring pages, and many more. A great introduction to geography. And the fun doesn't stop with this book. Four additional levels recount the further adventures of Longitude and Latitude. See pages 17, 27, 36, and 45.

Shurley English 1
Brenda Shurley
The most astounding and effective grammar program available. We love that Shurley English program!

1. What kind of program?
2. What is being said
3. How do you say?
4. What kind of program?
5. What is being said
7. Verb transitive. Check again.
8. No—prepositional phrases.
9. Go back to the verb. Divide the complete subject from the complete predicate.

The children also learn jingles to memorize the parts of speech, enabling and encouraging them to chant till they start dreaming grammar lessons. This program is easy to use and you will not believe what your children (and often the parents) will learn!

Author Brenda Shurley says, “The Shurley Method uses repetition, fun, student/teacher interaction, and a concrete set of questions about each word in a sentence to teach students how all the parts of a sentence fit together. It is important to study how all the parts of a sentence fit together because students need to understand sentence structure in order to speak and write successfully.”

For best results and ease to the teacher we recommend purchasing the Kit (which includes the teacher’s manual, one student workbook, and instructional CD) and the practice booklet. Consider the practice set (practice booklet and practice CD) if you wish to have the student work independently.

For those seeking to lay a firm foundation for a life-long love of books, look no further. These guides contain all the questions and activities needed to fan into flame a student’s passion for good literature.

The books covered represent all that is good about children’s literature. A great next step after finishing the Phonics Museum. This is a magical time in the student’s reading journey, and these collections of books will nurture a deep love for good books.

In Volume 1 students are given developmentally tailored comprehension questions and, among other things, directions for a marshmallow-and-peanut butter jar easy chair! Volume 2 includes reading comprehension questions that are building in difficulty, and many “extras” as well. Both have handwriting exercises, a clear icon system for teachers to follow, and simple instructions for students to foster independent work.

The success we have realized with the Phonics Museum is unparalleled. Children are not only learning to read quickly, but loving the process. Rebecca G. of Charlotte, N.C., writes: “I want my children to be exposed to the arts and music and to love learning... Thank you so much for writing a program that not only appeals to the child, but also to my adult tastes and desires. Your program has the elements that I would put into a program if I would have the time and the abilities to write a program for my children.” I can trust the people who have written it as well.”

The Phonics Museum incorporates the very best time-tested techniques of several hundred years in a fun history-and art-based program that parents, teachers, and children will be drawn to again and again. See detailed description on page 14 and check out the new Phonics Museum App on page 2.

History of Art: Creation to Contemporary
Ned Bustard
God made us creative and on Mount Sinai gave instructions on how to use art. Virtually all cultures have made art, art that reveals its hopes, dreams, and beliefs. And by studying the art of past cultures, we can learn something about ourselves in the present.

Fully integrated with the Veritas History Series (yet able to stand on its own), this art history program was designed to fill one year but is quite flexible.

This distinctively Christian overview of art history covers well-known works of art like Mona Lisa and American Gothic and also takes time to focus on art by Christians and about the Christian faith. Two great works of art are on nearly all of the 32 flashcards, along with information about each art movement studied. The full-color workbook contains comprehension questions, crafts, activities, readings, and features on artists of the faith. Call us for school and quantity pricing. Genesis to Joshua
Bible Series
Martin and Laurie Detweiler,
G. Tyler and Emily Fischer
Covering 32 events in the books of Genesis through Joshua, students will learn the Bible from Creation through Joshua’s Last Words. The self-paced course has clever interactions and striking video. Children join Abigail and Asher, her brother, along with animated characters Tec, an aloof cat, and Tizzy, a pesky gnat. Designed the same way as our history series, described on page 23, our Bible series applies the same time-proven classical method to studying the story of Redemption. The flashcards are a must-have for doing the Self-Paced course. eBooks available

Old Testament and Ancient Egypt
Marlin and Laurie Detweiler,
For years we have taught history in a chronological fashion, integrating biblical history with world history. At the core of the program are 32 flashcards per year over five years, covering 160 events from Creation to today, with music that helps children quickly learn the timeline of these events. This award-winning program also includes a teacher’s manual, a music CD to learn the timeline, and additional books as resources to teach the material. You can still use the program this way. In this series they learn the most important events from Creation to the Fall of Egypt.
But we have a far more engaging way to teach the material. Our self-paced web-based program is clearly the best way to learn history. Actors and animated characters will teach through the 32 events. Games, art, and frequent interactions will have them begging for more. All the worksheets and quizzes are in the course and graded for you. Kids love it.
We also recommend that you use one of the optional literature kits to enhance your child’s learning. There are two kits available depending on the reading level of your child.

Pages of History Vol. 1: Secrets of the Ancients

Bruce Etter and Lexi Detweiler

George Grant writes, “History is first and foremost, His Story. Alas, these days it is rarely told as a Story, and even less as His. That is why I am so enthusiastic about this project. Pages of History is faithful both to our rich Christian story-telling tradition and to our providential God whose stories these are in the first place.” Perfect for family story time or individual study. Pages of History transports the reader through the timeline of the world—providing a view of God’s work in every age. In this exciting first volume two boys travel from Creation through the Reformation. Their adventures in history will captivate readers young and old. The book features an unapologetic Christian worldview and an engaging approach to classical teaching while covering 96 major events, captivatively reinforcing all of the first three series in the Veritas Press history in the format of a compelling story. See page 49 for information about the sequel. Pages of History Vol. 2: Blazing New Trails. Hard 448p eBook available Pages of History I #000982 $25.00

Excellence in Spelling: The Phonetic Zoo
Andrew Pudewa
Each lesson presents a rule, jingle or hint, with fifteen words which follow the rule OR break it. Flashcards with animals and animal names can be used for visual reinforcement. Every fifth lesson is a “personal spelling” test using words from the student’s own writing or vocabulary. Students study independently, using a CD (headphones are helpful) and practicing the ten-minute lesson each day by taking the auditory “test” again and again until a perfect score is achieved. Creating a high repetition of auditory input, this “classical” approach is the best way for most children to learn spelling rules and words. Numerous online helps are available. An outstanding product from the Institute for Excellence in Writing.

Jordan/Whitling
A classical approach to the subject of spelling based on two different types of spelling rules that correspond respectively to the first two stages of the trivium. This program contains an overview of the spelling program as a whole and includes weekly word lists and no-nonsense reproducible worksheets to be used in the homeschool or classroom. There are many spelling programs on the market, but Mr. Whiting, a third grade teacher at Logos School, has taken the most-commonly-used rules and put them in a format conducive for chanting and integration with other disciplines. REPRODUCIBLE.

This classic includes sixty-six poems that recall joys of the author’s childhood imagination—from sailing boats down a river to sailing off to foreign lands. Tasha Tudor’s watercolor paintings evoke a simpler time and celebrate two things she loves most—children and nature. (2) Hard 69p #021130 $13.95

Pinocchio

C. Collodi

“Once upon a time there was a piece of wood. It was not an expensive piece of wood. Far from it. Just a common block of firewood, one of those thick, solid logs that are put on the fire in winter to make cold rooms cozy and warm…”

This story of a little wooden puppet on his journey to becoming a real boy will be a step up in their reading level but will be enjoyed thoroughly. The guide will take you through Pinocchio’s changes with comprehension questions and activities to teach the book effectively, including directions for a marionette using a tissue box, soap boxes, and a clothes hanger!

The Railway Children

E. Nesbit

The classic story of three children who move from London to “The Three Chimneys,” a house near the railway in Yorkshire after their father unexpectedly disappears. The children befriend an Old Gentleman who regularly takes the 9:15 train near their home, the family takes care of a Russian exile, and then many adventures later the children discover why their father vanished.

The Velveteen Rabbit

Margery Williams

“When a child loves you for a long, long time, not just to play with, but REALLY loves you, then you become Real. It doesn’t happen all at once. You become. It takes a long time. Generally, by the time you are Real, most of your hair has been loved off, and your eyes drop out and you get loose in the joints and very shabby. But these things don’t matter at all, because once you are Real you can’t be ugly except to people who don’t understand.” A must read for all. (2) Soft 40p

2ND MEMORY PERIOD

Live Course

MEMORY PERIOD I

#SA0204 $599.00

Years ago on a school visit we had the opportunity to observe students reciting seemingly endless amounts of material that they had memorized. We were struck with the fact that this is a crucial, if not the key, ingredient to the Grammar Stage of classical Christian education. We learned that these students simply spent a small amount of time each day going through a long list of things to commit to memory. It is amazing what can be memorized in twenty minutes a day. Below, find important materials used that are not found elsewhere in the catalog. Not included here are the Bible and history songs, geography songs, grammar chants, Latin chants, and math memory songs.

Lyrical Life Science

“Promoting scientific literacy through song” is how these clever folks describe this fabulous tool. We don’t teach science in grammar school—meaningful science requires certain language and mathematical mastery. Yet scientific memorization is important, and this is the tool. Sing “Oh Bacteria” instead of “Oh Suzanna” and “Cold Blooded Vertebrates” instead of “When Johnny Comes Marching Home.” Entertain the grandparents at Thanksgiving for some great laughs. CD, text, and workbook.

The Westminster Shorter Catechism Songs

Holly Dutton

When our boys were younger we had them memorize all 107 answers to the Shorter Catechism. Why? Because the questions and answers provide a clear and concise, yet comprehensive, statement of doctrine and beliefs of Christianity—clarity of what they believe that will benefit them all their lives. We’ve also always been huge proponents of memorizing with music. Imagine our delight when we discovered the clear pronunciation and simple melodic tunes of Dutton’s production. We know that you’ll love all four audio CDs. We wish we’d had them.

This distinctively Christian overview covers well-known works of art, from the Lascaux Cave paintings and Winged Victory to the Mona Lisa and American Gothic. But the program also takes time to focus on art by Christians and about the Christian faith. Two great works of art are on nearly all of the 32 flashcards along with information about each art movement studied. Covering 32 events from the books of Judges through Second Kings, students will learn about the early years of the people of Israel to the exile to Babylon. With the self-paced course, through engaging video, games and interactions, children follow young Levi, whose harebrained inventions often don’t turn out the way he expects, along with his family and friends, like Vasko the frog and Pallu the lovable badger. Designed the same way as our history series, described on page 23, our Bible series applies the same time-proven classical method to studying the story of Redemption. PREPARING FOR LIFE
New Testament, Greece and Rome, History Series

Marlin and Laurie Detweiler

This series starts with civilizations that developed in ancient Greece. It then covers Greece, Rome, and New Testament events that coincide with the time-frame—32 events in all. Children learn biblically-recorded history alongside non-biblically-recorded history in a remarkable way to understand these important times. The self-paced course uses period characters—real and animated—to lead the learning. We think (and hear frequently) that it’s the most effective way to learn. The History Flashcards are a must for the Self-Paced course, and there’s optional historical fiction. Whether you use the Self-Paced or You Teach option, you’ll be amazed at the learning of your students. Read more about the series on page 10.

Aaron Larsen and Christopher Perrin
Rigorous, flexible, comprehensive, easily taught, organized. These are just a few words that describe this brilliant curriculum. Of course, incorporating Veritas Press History and Shurley English methods into its teaching doesn’t hurt. Teach it yourself or use the three DVDs and one CD to do the teaching. And the Activity Book is a sure way to have students ask for more Latin today. Uses ecclesiastical or classical pronunciation.

Latina Christiana
Cheryl Lowe
Friendly to teachers, parents, and students who have no background in Latin. Written so the teacher can learn along with the student. Thirty lessons to be covered in one year. The audio CD or tape walks you through each lesson. Our children have benefited greatly from it. A starting point, or it can follow Prima Latina. Uses ecclesiastical pronunciation, which is our preference.

Additional supplements to this program may be found on our web site. They include Flashcards, The Book of Roots, Ludere Latine I, and Ancient Civilization Wall Maps.

Alice in Wonderland
Lewis Carroll
"Would you tell me, please, which way I ought to go from here?"
"That depends a good deal on where you want to get to," said the Cat.
"I don't much care where," said Alice.
"Then it doesn't matter which way you go," said the Cat.
"—so long as I get SOMEWHERE," Alice added as an explanation.
"Oh, you're sure to do that," said the Cat, "if you only walk long enough."
First published in 1865, this crazy classic continues to delight children and adults alike. In this guide to Alice you will find a croquet game, a disappearing cat, practical questions and (in a very unWonderland way) helpful answers along with additional information to help you understand the madness of it all.

The timeless tale of Charlotte, a very clever spider and a playful pig named Wilbur. This is a story of friendship, hardship, and the passing on of time that reminds us the story of friendship, hardship, and the passing on of time that reminds us of the wonder found in the simplest of things. And the comprehension guide is SOME GUIDE. It is terrific, radiant, and even a bit humble. Puppets, posters and a paper-mache pig squeeze into this guide along with comprehension questions, cookie arachnids and more. But what do you expect, since it is about that precious pale porcine, Wilbur?

■ The Chronicles of Narnia
C.S. Lewis
“It isn’t Narnia, you know,” sobbed Lucy. “It’s you. We can’t meet you there...”
“But you shall meet me, dear one,” said Aslan... “But there I have another name. You must learn to know me by that name. This was the very reason why you were brought to Narnia, that by knowing me here for a little, you may know me better there.”
Full of biblical references, myths, and legends, this classic series of seven magical tales has captured the imagination of millions. The guide is an all-in-one, indepth study of each chapter in all seven books—with a plethora of projects and activities for each of the Chronicles including creative writing assignments, art projects, board games, a recipe for Turkish Delight, studies on the biblical themes found in the series, and a cut-out model of the Dawn Treader! ■ Chronicles to Malachi and Job Bible Series
Marlin and Laurie Detweiler
G. Tyler and Emily Fischer
You want a self-paced course for this, and we’re sorry we don’t have it yet (or even a forecasted date). That doesn’t mean your children should overlook studying these important books of the Bible.
One of our favorite verses is found in Micah 6:8. You need to teach the whole Bible to develop the whole child. Sadly, it won’t be as easy as self-paced course, but it will be worth it. Using the cards, memory song, and teacher’s manual, students study 32 events, learning about the major and minor prophets, the sufferings of Job, and how these books lead to the coming Messiah. Middle Ages, Renaissance, and Reformation History Series
Marlin and Laurie Detweiler, G. Tyler and Emily Fischer
The Dark Ages? Hardly! They are neither unknown nor were they backward. Middle Ages, Renaissance, and Reformation is a crucial period to study, as it connects us to biblical times and ancient civilizations. Again the course covers 32 events, and students can learn Self-Paced or You Teach. Colorful historical characters from Augustine to Benedict to Alfred to Marco Polo to Gutenberg to Luther fill the landscape of this remarkable period.
History flashcards are crucial for the Self-Paced (which we recommend); historical fiction is optional. This period, more than any other, opened our eyes to how God has been at work—not because other periods were less eventful, but because we bought the modern lie of this period being backward and unknown. Read more about the series on page 10.

The purpose of historical fiction is to entertain and to bring life to another time. This book accomplishes both marvelously. Based so much in historical fact it has been said it is hard to tell the truth from the fiction. Join Widge as his new master commands him to steal Shakespeare’s new play, Hamlet. Soft 216p 32

Dangerous Journey
John Bunyan, Oliver Hunkin
A world famous edition of Bunyan's classic tale A Pilgrim's Progress. Most of the brilliant illustrations are full- or double-page spreads with the text in a large, elegant typeface arranged in a variety of patterns around them. Gloomy dungeons, dark forests, black rivers and gray-clouded skies sustain the mood of danger and hardship. Useful for a variety of ages, this is one of the few books well worth reading in a children's edition. The comprehension guide has students make a "lift-the-flap" travel log of the journey to discuss the major themes of the Christian faith presented in the story.

The Hobbit
J.R.R. Tolkien
“Good Morning!” said Bilbo. “And he meant it. The sun was shining, and the grass was very green. But Gandalf looked at him from under long bushy eyebrows that stuck out further than the brim of his shady hat.

“What do you mean?” he said. “Do you wish me a good morning, or mean that it is a good morning whether I want it or not, or that you feel good this morning, or that it is a morning to be good on?”

“All of them at once,” said Bilbo. “And a very fine morning for a pipe of tobacco out of doors, into the bargain.

“Good morning!” he said at last. “We don’t want any adventures here, thank you! You might try over The Hill or across The Water.” By this he meant that the conversation was at an end.

“What a lot of things you do use Good morning for!” said Gandalf. “Now you mean that you want to get rid of me, and that it won’t be good till I move off.”

Though Bilbo does not care for adventures, he finds himself on an excursion to fight a dragon and gain treasure. The guide has it all—questions and answers for every chapter, a Bag-End diorama, rune translations and more. All that’s missing is a pocket handkerchief. The Hobbit (3) Soft 290p #290020 $13.95

Dancing cows? Talking birds? Tea parties on the ceiling? Christmas shopping with stars? When Mary Poppins is about, her young charges can never tell where the real world merges into make-believe. Neither can the reader, and that is one of the hallmarks of good fantasy. And the comprehension guide is full of as many interesting things as Poppins’ carpet bag: poetry, crafts, mazes, and even directions for a proper cup of tea.

Macbeth
William Shakespeare
Macbeth, Shakespeare’s shortest
est tragedy, tells the story of a brave Scottish general who receives a prophecy from a trio of witches that one day he will be king. Murder, guilt, and madness fill this tale. When you are studying the Renaissance why not have your students perform this famous play? We did and the children loved it! In fact, our son Travis (then 11) told another of our sons, Parker (then 9), to “stop telling those odious tyrant lies” while attempting to settle on a choice of cereal at the store. 5TH BIBLE

- Gospels Bible Series

  Marlin and Laurie Detweiler, G. Tyler and Emily Fischer

  We think of the Gospels as the heart of the Bible. Stories about Jesus dominate much of our teaching—and for very good reason. This series incorporates those stories, but it does more. Through the 32 events studied, students will learn to sequence events, to see how the four Gospels parallel each other and come to grips with the most influential 33 years in all of history. Again, the Self-Paced options with the Bible cards is ours and most Veritas Families’ favorite approach. You Teach is an option, too. But choose one. Don’t make the mistake we see too often—that a devotional approach will produce adequate Bible learning.

5TH HISTORY

Explorers to 1815
History Series
Marlin and Launze Detweiler,
G. Tyler and Emily Fischer
Fifth grade history, starting with the explorers, focuses on early America. George Washington and other Founding Fathers appear along with lesser-known yet important characters, like Jonathan Edwards and George Whitefield. Children will enjoy learning the sequence of 32 events that led to the founding of America through the War of 1812 and the Missouri Compromise. They will learn what we didn't in our public school education: that America’s founding was greatly influenced by the biblical thinking that produced the Massachusetts Bay Colony and the First Great Awakening. Again, the creative engagement of the Self-Paced course makes it our recommendation. You’ll need the history flashcards and should consider the optional historical fiction that accompanies the course.

Swiss Family Robinson
Johann Wyss
“What our limited reason cannot grasp, let us be content to acknowledge as the workings of Almighty power and wisdom, and thankfully trust in that ‘Rock,’ which, were it not higher than we, would afford no sense of security to the immortal soul.”

Join Ernest, Fritz, Franz, Mother and Father as they survive a shipwreck and start a new life for themselves on a deserted island. It is refreshing reading as they offer thanks to God for His provisions. Be careful though, your children may have a new weekend project for you after reading this. Our family built a four level tree house, rising 23 feet off the ground. With Dad’s help of course. Along with questions and answers for every chapter, the guide boasts a Latin/English card game, a Pemmican recipe, instructions to make a bow and arrow, and more fun things. But watch out—there is a little bit of math in there too! Written specifically to work with the above Puffin classic version of the book. (2) Soft 472p

Squalls Before War: His Majesty's Schooner Sultana
Ned Bustard
In 2001 a full-scale reproduction of a vessel that had sailed the Chesapeake Bay in the years before the American Revolution was launched. The creation of the current Sultana inspired the creation of this historical fiction.

Using extensive research and the actual logs of her tour of the colonies from 1768-1772, a tale is spun about the Royal Navy's smallest schooner. The Boston Massacre, the Great Awakening, the burning of the Gaspee, and even George Washington appear in this book and actually played a part in the Sultana's real slice of America's history. And in the guide, you can learn sailor's knots, read a sermon by George Whitefield, conduct ecological experiments, sing sea shanties and answer questions about the true (and almost true) adventures of Lieutenant John Inglis and Master David Bruce aboard the historic schooner Sultana. 6TH ART

MATERIALS FOR YOU TEACH
History of Art Flashcards and Workbook; Lesson Plans (7% discount) #001408 $69.00

History of Art: Creation to Contemporary
Ned Bustard
God made us creative and on Mount Sinai gave instructions on how to use art. Virtually all cultures have made art, art that reveals its hopes, dreams, and beliefs. And by studying the art of past cultures, we can learn something about ourselves in the present.

History of Art: Creation to Contemporary is a distinctively Christian overview covering well-known works of art, from the Lascaux Cave paintings and Winged Victory to the Mona Lisa and American Gothic. But the program also takes time to focus on art by Christians and about the Christian faith.

This art history curriculum was designed to be flexible in order to add beauty not burden to your students’ learning experience. There are at least four ways to use this art history curriculum:

OPTION ONE
Two great works of art are on each of the 32 flashcards, along with information about each art movement studied. The full-color workbook contains comprehension questions, crafts, activities, readings, and features on artists of the faith.

OPTION TWO
Fully integrated with the Veritas History Series (yet able to stand on its own), this art history program can extend from second grade to sixth, to enjoy several cards at a time. Each card has a color bar across the top of the card that matches the history cards, and the overview pages have timelines that use the history card number system to place the art in the proper sequence.

OPTION THREE
The versatility of this curriculum makes it possible to consider using it as a transitional program in 7th grade, because it spans all of Western history. Although full of fun activities for younger kids, the textbook also has in-depth readings for older students about such things as the Golden Mean, perspective, interviews with contemporary artists of faith, and more.

OPTION FOUR
Finally, the art history cards could be used to complement an art program where students are learning to “do” art that you may already be using, mixing them in as a way to add “appreciating” art, its depth and inspiration, while developing basic art skills. Your student will be able to identify all the major art movements in Western art as well as know the titles and artists responsible for over five dozen artistic masterpieces. These movements and works of art are the grammar of art history and will allow the student to navigate nearly every museum of Western art in the world, as well as know how they fit in the study of history.

- Acts to Revelation Bible Series
  Martin and Laurie Detweiler, G. Tyler and Emily Fischer
  Again, we're sorry we don't have a self-paced course or even a forecasted date for this level...yet. The epistles and other books studied in this series remain very important to study. They're also fairly approachable for parents to teach in our You Teach format, so jump in!
  Teaching the whole Bible is what helps develop the whole child. It won’t be as easy as a self-paced course, but it will be worth it. Students will study 32 events, learning about the problems and opportunities of the early Church in the first century. It’s an important place for their study, as many of these texts will be part of a deeper dive into theological issues in their next few years. Read more about the series on page 10.

1815 to the Present History Series
Martin and Laurie Detwiler, G. Tyler and Emily Fischer
Sixth grade history picks up with a young America and moves quickly into the struggles resulting in the War Between the States and, not long after, World Wars I and II. Inventions, industry, and urbanization will be brought into chronological context. Thirty-two events will be studied concluding with Modern America. They will learn of the great tragedies and great advancements that typified the last 200 years. Our hope, as always, is that they will learn from our history in order to build on it, rather than repeat it because of ignorance. The enjoyment—not to mention the effectiveness of the learning—that most experience with the engagement of the self-paced course makes it our recommendation. You'll need the history flashcards and should consider the optional literature kits that accompany the course.

6TH LATIN

There are several options for which level of Latin to consider here. Students who excelled at Latin for Children, Level C are ready for Latin I. Latin Transition I is recommended for those who have not taken Latin for Children, Level C or have not successfully completed a couple years of Latin. Students who have taken very little Latin or are just beginning are encouraged to take Latin Transition I (see page 63). Following this simple advice will help students excel at this most important discipline.

Providing Classical Education from a Christian Worldview

Preparing for Life
In classical education we talk of the grammar stage ending sometime around the end of 6th grade and the dialectic or logic stage beginning. The fact is, students don’t turn off their thinking as grammar students one day and turn on thinking as dialectic students the next. A transition occurs. To aid the transition we offer these tools.

The Study of Things Beautiful

The study of Art is the study of things beautiful. It includes the historic and appreciative as well as the vocational and technical. Learning about the beauty of God's creation by enjoying the rich heritage of visual arts over the millennia never gets old and is benefitted by the study of art appreciation. The ability for a student to connect certain art periods with historic events and philosophies that coincided with art styles can shape a godly worldview greatly.

Likewise, students who take the time to develop their artistic giftedness will find tremendous blessing that accompanies them for their entire lives. Whether they have the potential of a Renoir or Rembrandt or simply to gain basic skills in drawing technique and perspective, they will enjoy the process of moving things from their mind to a visual image.

“Good art welcomes us in, and makes us want to join in the fun.”
—Alissa Wilkinson from It Was Good: Performing Arts to the Glory of God
Communicating with Style and Effectiveness

At Veritas the English department is primarily about writing and composition. Literature courses are part of our integrated humanities program called Omnibus. With a substantial mastery of English grammar and vocabulary, students are asked to hone their writing skills, learning to turn phrases and write in interesting and enjoyable ways that make you want to read what they write.

We are frequently amazed at the writing of our students. It routinely seems beyond their years, and yet it keeps happening. That’s the beauty of classical education. Latin, as a tool of leverage for mastering language, coupled with a thorough study of grammar, prepares students to focus on more than basics.

Learning the Languages of Our Neighbors—Old and New

Here at Veritas, foreign languages fall into two categories, classical and modern, and they are often studied for two different reasons.

Many study classical languages, Greek and Latin especially, in order to master their own native tongue. More than half of English vocabulary, for example, comes from the classical roots of Greek and Latin, and they are the undisputed foundations of the language we use to talk about law, medicine, government, and the sciences. Further, many view the learning of Latin or Greek as the best preparation for the learning of any other language.

Of course, many learn a modern foreign language for what they perceive to be its practical value: from conducting business across the planet to communicating with their own neighbors at home. Increased globalization certainly favors learning to speak one’s own and someone else’s language, and some will take on the challenge simply to sharpen their minds.

For whatever the reason, a study of foreign languages is part of any solid classical Christian education, and we are pleased to offer our families many options.

Thinking Clearly, Communicating Winsomely

These two disciplines should be regarded as the paradigm disciplines for the dialectic and rhetoric stages, respectively. Most of us had no training in either in our education. Learning logic—formal and informal—is nothing short of learning to think. Students who've studied logic can quickly identify a fallacious or shoddy argument, and they can construct a sound one. Who wants to raise a child who cannot reason well?

Rhetoric, as it was understood in antiquity, was a comprehensive art just as much concerned with what one could say as how one might say it. Studying and mastering rhetoric produces students who can communicate winsomely and articulately. This capstone discipline has been ignored for too long. We love seeing our students and yours taking what they've learned and using it to influence their neighbors to the glory of God and the furthering of His kingdom.

LOGIC I

7TH [MAY BE TAKEN 7–12TH]

The Fallacy Detective
Nathaniel and Hans Bluedorn
The brothers Bluedorn have created a very clever tool to meet an extraordinary gap in the materials necessary to teach Logic and provide a complete education in the dialectic stage. Studying Informal Logic, as the study of fallacies is sometimes described, will do more to teach the student to think clearly, reason well and spot errors in the reasoning of others than any other activity. This book complements the Introductory Logic and Intermediate Logic texts to provide a thorough study of the discipline. Soft 216p #137355 $19.95

The Argument Builder
Shelly Johnson
This logic program neatly follows Introductory and Intermediate Logic or The Art of Argument and Discovery of Deduction and is a blend of logic and rhetoric. RHETORIC I
10th [may be taken 10–12th]

A Rhetoric of Love
Douglas M. Jones
What are you trying to accomplish by teaching rhetoric?
Do you want students to simply be able to identify Aristotle’s Five Canons and other key elements in communication, or do you want to cause your students to become great communicators? We have felt this problem for more than 25 years.
And we’ve felt another problem—classical rhetoric lacks a necessary distinctively Christian foundation.

That is why we are so excited about A Rhetoric of Love. It explores the art of effective, persuasive, winsome communication and stands in a tradition that stretches back to Aristotle and other Greek and Roman teachers. But it departs from it, too.

Jesus calls us to love our neighbors as ourselves. A Rhetoric of Love asks how we can do that in our speaking and writing and living. How ought Christ’s followers to try to persuade others? How should their rhetorical efforts look different from those of the world around them? How can they seek to persuade with empathy, understanding, compassion? How can they listen to others—really listen—and then speak truth in love?

Here A Rhetoric of Love offers a corrective. It turns to the Bible for guidance. It seeks to follow and teach the powerful example of Jesus’s words and deeds. A Rhetoric of Love shows high school students a better way to persuade.

RHETORIC II
11th [may be taken 11–12th]

Rhetoric is sometimes described as the art of both effective communication and of fruitful persuasion. In that light, A Rhetoric of Love is a very powerful tool for the teaching of that art precisely because in it Doug Jones beautifully combines theological soundness and ethical engagement. This is a curriculum suffused in the historical awareness, academic substantiveness, and poetic graciousness of a master teacher.

—George Grant
Quantifying the Beauty of God’s Creation

It might seem that math is the one discipline that is unaffected by biblical thinking—that it’s neutral as to worldview. Yet how do we know that $2 + 2 = 4$ can (or will) always be true—because God is unchanging. Einstein said, “Pure mathematics is, in its way, the poetry of logical ideas,” and with tongue likely planted firmly in his cheek, Andre Weil said, “We know that God exists because mathematics is consistent and we know that the devil exists because we cannot prove the consistency.”

At Veritas we are pleased to step up the standard to something closer to an historic norm and to the standard of countries producing higher performing math students. With Algebra I as our recommended 7th grade standard, many students complete Calculus I in high school—both a worthy and reasonable endeavor.

The curriculum we recommend is ideally suited for the classically educated student.

Calculus: Early Transcendental Functions
Larson, Hostetler, Edwards
Designed for a two- or three-semester college calculus sequence, this text easily offers two years worth of calculus for the high school student. It is an extraordinary introduction to trigonometric, exponential, logarithmic, and inverse functions and integrates these functions at earlier points in the text than some others do, providing for a richer variety of applications sooner in the course.

MATHEMATICS ELECTIVES [MAY BE TAKEN 9–12th]

Math students who think about what they are learning, especially those who love to dig deeply in the mines of learning, invariably discover the power and beauty of mathematics. These two qualities have been recognized by thinking people for centuries. While most students realize early on the power of mathematics, at least to solve problems, many have trouble seeing the beauty of the subject. But mathematics is beautiful. Mathematician J. H. Poincare (1854–1912) wrote, ‘The mathematician does not study pure mathematics because it is useful; he studies it because he delights in it and he delights in it because it is beautiful.’

—Jim Nance
OMNIBUS IS A GREAT BOOKS CURRICULUM FOR GRADES 7–12 THAT TEACHES STUDENTS THE LESSONS FROM THE PAST IN ORDER TO LIVE IN THE PRESENT

Teaching children to think biblically about everything is one of the hardest jobs parents and teachers have. Learning from the past to live in the present might be second hardest. By tapping some of the greatest thinkers alive, Veritas produced the Omnibus, a Great Books curriculum for grades 7–12 that grounds students in their faith.

Omnibus is a Latin term meaning “all-encompassing.” Each year of the Omnibus curriculum combines history, theology, and literature to help students grow in their appreciation of the unity of all knowledge.

The Omnibus includes six years with two courses per year. The Primary books course focuses closely on primary-source historical works and events from the time period covered. The Secondary course offers a lighter workload and balances out the course with a greater focus on literature and theology. Taken together, students will earn three credits: one each in history, theology, and literature.

For example: As part of Omnibus I Primary, students delve into the works of Plato, dealing with the Socratic Method. In Omnibus I Secondary, some reading includes modern works by Peter Kreeft, presenting fictional conversations between Socrates, abortionists, and university professors. This integrated, classical approach equips students with both an in-depth knowledge of history and the Great Books, while training them in the skills needed to process and articulate the meaning of this knowledge through the prism of a Christian worldview.

Students completing all six years of Omnibus Primary and Secondary courses will have the added benefit of the in-depth study of all 66 books of the Bible. They will also run through a three-year cycle of history—ancient, medieval, modern—twice, once with the first three years and again with the second three. Many ask, “Can we do only a year or a few years, or only primary, or only secondary courses?” Our answer is the same: Any study of the Great Books to learn to think biblically about everything will be of great value. Whether you plan to do all twelve classes or only one, students will benefit for the rest of their lives by joining the “Great Conversation.”

Learning can happen in all three formats: You Teach, Self-Paced, and Live Online

Understanding God’s Creation

Understanding God’s creation and how He providentially superintends His world is at the heart of how we view learning science. Scientist Johannes Kepler described science as “thinking God’s thoughts after Him.” Albert Einstein said, “Everyone who is seriously interested in the pursuit of science becomes convinced that a spirit is manifest in the laws of the universe—a spirit vastly superior to man, and one in the face of which our modest powers must feel humble.” And Blaise Pascal, French philosopher, mathematician, and scientist, wrote in Pensees, a book studied in Omnibus VI, “Faith tells us what the senses cannot, but it is not contrary to their findings. It simply transcends, without contradicting them.”

We cannot avoid studying science, nor can we pretend that the science we study can be understood apart from God. Enjoying the wonder of the world in which we live helps us understand attributes and aspects of our God. It is a great complement to understanding the Scriptures He’s provided us.

GENERAL SCIENCE

Exploring Creation with General Science

Jay L. Wile

This course is designed to be a systematic introduction to science in general and has no prerequisites. The student will learn about the scientific method, designing experiments, simple machines, archaeology, geology, paleontology, biology, human anatomy and human physiology in an introductory way. No lab equipment is required. Necessary materials for experiments are common household items.

PHYSICAL SCIENCE

Exploring Creation with Physical Science

Jay L. Wile

Recommended to follow the general science course, this course discusses the atmosphere, hydrosphere, weather, structure of the earth, environmentalism, physics of motion, Newton’s Laws, gravity and astrophysics. Myths generated by the hysterical environmentalist movement are addressed. Many hands-on experiments—all use common household chemicals and supplies. There is no math prerequisite.

Exploring Creation with Biology
Jay L. Wile
and Marilyn F. Durme

The first of four high school science courses in this curriculum. Written from a creationist viewpoint with emphasis on the wonderful design of God’s world. The CD-ROM version has all the information in the print version plus animations, videos, narrations, and audio pronunciation guides. Arrangements have been made so you may obtain lab equipment and supplies from Nature’s Workshop Plus at 888-393-5663.

Exploring Creation with Physics
Jay L. Wile

Algebra II is a prerequisite to this program. It is better following Chemistry, as Physics is generally considered the toughest science. Physics deals with matter and motion including mechanics, heat, light, electricity and sound. No special laboratory equipment is needed. The course uses household items only.

Classical Christian Education

DVD: The New Old Way

We don't want to sell this to you, we want to give it to you. It is intended to be a primer, an introduction to classical Christian education. You can find it at Facebook.com/ExploreClassicalChristianEducation or on our website free (VeritasPress.com/newoldway). At either place you can view it, download it, share it, put it on your website, etc. A great giveaway for schools and homeschool coops interested in telling others about this wonderful educational model. If this is all your order, shipping will be $1.

Recovering the Lost Tools of Learning

Douglas Wilson

In this literally life-changing book Wilson eloquently makes the ironclad case for the necessity to educate our children in a Christian school or home school, and he does so while introducing the successes of the past using methodology and content known as classical Christian education.

Virtually all involved in the entire movement intent on recovering these time proven ideas and methods owe their beginning to Wilson's writing in this work. It is a must for all who would see education recover and godliness prevail in the rearing of the next generation.

The Seven Laws of Teaching

John Milton Gregory

The Seven Laws has been a well-worn tool for classical educators. Little did we know the version most of us had had long been stripped of the Christian insights and applications the author had originally included. Now the original is back. ★★★★★! Soft 164p

#000970 $12.00

The Abolition of Man

C.S. Lewis

Written while Sayers and Lewis were engaged in discussions on educational failures, this title has contributed to the thinking of many who seek to “recover the ruins.” A must for anyone committed to classical Christian education. Soft 113p

#255005 $9.95

Vocatio

Today, children graduate from high school with a myriad of opportunities. Vocation is an enormous consideration. In Latin, vocatio means “vocation” or “calling.” The last three Omnibus texts include six essays each on different vocations. We’ve compiled all 18 in this one volume. These essays are written by some very talented and godly folks. Graduates and “soon to be’s” will find troves of great information to help think through life’s opportunities.

ABOUT THE COVER:
In Her Sister’s Arms | DANIELGERHARTZ.COM
Daniel Gerhardt’s paintings draw inspiration from the very old tradition of romanticism and classical techniques. Dan writes, “My desire as an artist is that the images I paint would point to the Creator, and not to me, the conveyor . . . To God alone be the glory.”
