Curious George

George was a good little monkey and always very curious. It's this curiosity that leads him to meet the man with the yellow hat, travel from Africa to get a new home in a zoo—and to have a run-in with the fire department! But if curiosity gets George into mischief, it's sure to help him get out of it, too.

Curious George was first published in 1941, and since then, H. A. Rey's story about this curious little monkey has delighted generations of children.

This is George.
He lived in Africa.
He was a good little monkey
and always very curious.

One day George saw a man.
He had on a large yellow straw hat.
The man saw George too.
“What a nice little monkey,” he thought.
“I would like to take him home with me.”
He put his hat on the ground
and, of course, George was curious.
He came down from the tree
to look at the large yellow hat.

The hat had been on the man's head.
George thought it would be nice to have it on his own head.
He picked it up and put it on.

The hat covered George's head.
He couldn't see.
The man picked him up quickly
and popped him into a bag.
George was caught.

“Small children will wear the book out with affection for the story with its jolly bright pictures.”
